Kashmir is the northwestern region of the Indian subcontinent. Until the mid-19th century, the term Kashmir geographically denoted only the valley between the Great Himalayas and the Pir-Panjal mountain range. Then the name was used for the larger area of a princely state centered in the valley. Today, that area is divided between India, Pakistan, and China.....

Ladakh, the land of many passes, snow clad mountains and arid land is among the highest of the world's inhabited plateaus. It lies at an altitude ranging from about 2,750 meters at Kargil to 7,672 meters at Saser Kangri in the Karakoram. The summer temperatures exceed up to 35 °C, while in winter it may drop to -30 ° C at high altitude areas. Ladakh has been described as 'Moon Land', 'Magic Land', and 'Mysterious Land' for its unique landscape.....

Besides being famous as the largest archipelago in the world, the country is also renowned for the stunning islands and abundance of natural treasures in the form of flora and fauna. The land is also famous for its active volcanoes, many of which lie under the sea. This ever-intriguing, ever-intoxicating land offers some of the last great adventures on earth. Sitting in the open door of a train whizzing across Java, idling away time on a ferry bound for Kalimantan, hanging on to the back of a scooter on Flores, rounding the mystifying corner of an ancient West Timor village or simply trekking through wilderness you're sure no one has seen before. The cultural richness of the country complements its geographical diversity and appeases everyone. With such varied options, ranging from natural sights to cultural landmarks to exciting activities, Indonesia is increasingly becoming a popular choice for tourists that prefer diversity.
